

KAT ANNA FIDDLE present

ONCE UPON A CHILD

This charming and interactive show received the thumbs up when performed at the Otago Early Settlers Museum accompany the “Songs of Innocence” exhibition toured by Mahara Gallery, Waikanae in 2006. A combination of song, story, live music, poems and games, we aim to create a nostalgia for the TV-free, computer-and-car-less childhoods of the 50’s era in a firmly New Zealand setting. We are able to offer this show with original photographs, thanks to the generosity of Dorothy Pascoe who has allowed us to reproduce material from the John Pascoe Collection, Alexander Turnbull Library, Wellington. Here are some audience comments:-

“Amazing performance. Exactly the length of time for two five-year-olds. Lots of memories for Grandmothers! Loved the clapping games, and thank you for the help to make a ball from. Fantastic!”

“Funny! Good music” 11-year-old boy

Wonderful teamwork between the two of you - you spark off each other nicely. Great how you bring things to life gently but powerfully teaching about the past and important values- as well as the infinite possibilities of our imaginations”

Simple, emotion-provoking and in keeping with 50’s theme, very enjoyable! Reaffirming that children are still able to have fun without TV etc. Great, inspiring”
